

NOTICE OF PRIVACY PRACTICES FOR HEMATOLOGY & ONCOLOGY CONSULTANTS OF PENNSYLVANIA, P.C.

Effective Date: January 1, 2004

THIS NOTICE DESCRIBES HOW MEDICAL INFORMATION ABOUT YOU MAY BE USED AND DISCLOSED AND HOW TO GET ACCESS TO THIS INFORMATION. PLEASE READ IT CAREFULLY.

If you have any questions regarding this notice, you may contact our privacy officer at:

Hematology & Oncology Consultants of Pennsylvania, P.C.

Attention: Linda Packman

Address: 101 Erford Road, Suite 101

Camp Hill, PA 17011

Telephone: (717) 975-8900 Fax: (717) 975-9400

I. YOUR PROTECTED HEALTH INFORMATION

Hematology & Oncology Consultants of Pennsylvania, P.C. is required by the federal privacy rule to maintain the privacy of your health information that is protected by the rule, and to provide you with notice of our legal duties and privacy practices with respect to your protected health care information. We are required to abide by the terms of the notice currently in effect.

Generally speaking, your protected health information is any information that relates to your past, present or future physical or mental health or condition, the provision of health care to you, or payment for health care provided to you, and individually identifies you or reasonably can be used to identify you.

Your medical and billing records at our practice are examples of information that usually will be regarded as your protected health information.

II. USES AND DISCLOSURES OF YOUR PROTECTED HEALTH INFORMATION

A. Treatment, payment, and health care operations

This section describes how we may use and disclose your protected health information for treatment, payment, and health care operations purposes. The descriptions include examples. Not every possible use or disclosure for treatment, payment, and health care operations purposes will be listed.

1. Treatment

We may use and disclose your protected health information for our treatment purposes as well as the treatment purposes of other health care providers. Treatment includes the provision, coordination, or management of health care services to you by one or more health care providers. Some examples of treatment uses and disclosures include:

- During an office visit, practice physicians and other staff involved in your care may review your medical record and share and discuss your medical information with each other.
- We may share and discuss your medical information with an outside physician to whom we have referred you for care.
- We may share and discuss your medical information with an outside physician with whom we are consulting regarding you.
- We may share and discuss your medical information with an outside laboratory, radiology center, or other health care facility where we have referred you for testing.
- We may share and discuss your medical information with an outside home health agency, durable medical equipment agency or other healthcare provider to whom we have referred you for healthcare services and products.
- We may share and discuss your medical information with a hospital and other health care facility where we are admitting or treating you.
- We may share and discuss your medical information with a hospital or other health provider who seeks this information for the purpose of treating you.
- We may use a patient and guest sign-in sheet in the waiting area that is accessible to all patients.
- We may update information and perform tasks as needed at the check-in window, check-out desk, lab, medical assistants area, examination rooms, the chemotherapy suite, billing area, etc. and areas accessible to all patients and guests.
- We may page patients in the waiting room per their full name when it is time for them to go to any office department such as laboratory, billing, examination area, chemotherapy area, etc.
- We may contact you to provide appointment reminders, test results, etc. via telephone at home, or work, or per relative or friend, or by mail.
- We may leave a message on your telephone answering machine at home or at work or per designated person.
- We may contact you by mailings with our practice name and return address on the envelopes.

2. Payment

We may use and disclose your protected health information for our payment purposes as well as the payment purposes of other health care providers and health plans. Payment uses and disclosures include activities conducted to obtain payment for the care provided to you or so that we or you can obtain reimbursement for that care, for example, from your health insurer. Some examples of payment uses and disclosures include:

- Sharing information with your health insurer to determine whether you are eligible for coverage or whether proposed treatment is a covered service.
- Submission of a claim form to your health insurer.
- Providing supplemental information to your health insurer so that your health insurer can obtain reimbursement from another health plan under a coordination of benefits clause in your subscriber.
- Sharing your demographic information (for example, your address) with other health care providers who seek this information to obtain payment for health care services provided to you.
- Use of clearing house for purpose of eligible coverage information, claim submission and other services.
- Mailing your bills in envelopes with our practice name and return address.
- Provision of a bill to a family member or other person designated as responsible for payment for services rendered to you.
- Providing medical records and other documentation to your health insurer to support the medical necessity of a health service.
- Allowing your health insurer access to your medical record for a medical necessity or quality review audit.
- Providing consumer reporting agencies with credit information (your name and address, date of birth, social security number, payment history, account number, and our name and address).
- Providing information to a collection agency or our attorney for purposes of securing payment of a delinquent account.
- Disclosing information in a legal action for purposes of securing payment of a delinquent account.
- Disclosing information in a legal action for protection of the practice, officers, and employees.

3. Health Care Options

We may use and disclose your protected health information for our health care operation purposes as well as certain health care operation purposes of other health care providers and health plans. Some examples of health care operation purposes include:

- Quality assessment and improvement activities.
- Population based activities relating to improving health and reducing health care costs.
- Reviewing the competence, qualifications, or performance of health care professionals.
- Conducting training programs for medical and other students.

- Accreditation, certification, licensing, and credentialing activities.
- Healthcare fraud and abuse detection and compliance programs.
- Conducting other medical review, legal services, and auditing functions.
- Business planning and development activities, such as conducting cost management and planning related analyses.
- Sharing information regarding patients with entities that are interested in purchasing our practice and turning over patient records to entities that have purchased our practice.
- Other business management and general administrative activities, such as compliance with the federal privacy rule and resolution of patient grievances.
- Information mailing from our practice to patients.

B. Uses and disclosures for other purposes

We may use and disclose your protected health information for other purposes. This section generally describes those purposes by category. Each category includes one or more examples. Not every use or disclosure in a category will be listed. Some examples fall into more than one category – not just the category under which they are listed.

1. Individuals involved in care or payment for care

We may disclose your protected health information to someone involved in your care or payment for your care, such as a spouse, a family member, or close friend. For example, if you have surgery, we may discuss your physical limitations with a family member assisting in your post-operative care.

2. Notification purposes

We may use and disclose your protected health information to notify, or to assist in the notification of, a family member, a personal representative, or another person responsible for your care, regarding your location, general condition, or death. For example, if you are hospitalized, we may notify a family member of the hospital and our general condition. In addition, we may disclose your protected health information to a disaster relief entity, such as the Red Cross, so that it can notify a family member, a personal representative, or another person involved in your care regarding your location, general condition, or death.

3. Required by law

We may use and disclose protected health information when required by federal, state, or local law. For example, we may disclose protected health information to comply with mandatory reporting requirements involving births and death, child abuse, disease prevention and control, vaccine-related injuries, medical device-related deaths and serious injuries, gunshot and other injuries by a deadly weapon or criminal act, driving impairments, and blood alcohol testing.

4. Other public health activities

We may use and disclose protected health information for public health activities, including:

- Public health reporting, for example, communicable disease reports.
- Child abuse and neglect reports.
- FDA-related reports and disclosures, for example, adverse event reports.
- Public health warnings to third parties at risk of a communicable disease or condition.
- OSHA requirements for workplace surveillance and injury reports.

5. Victims of abuse, neglect or domestic violence

We may use and disclose protected health information for purposes of reporting of abuse, neglect or domestic violence in addition to child abuse, for example, reports of elder abuse to the Department of Aging or abuse of a nursing home patient to the Department of Public Welfare.

6. Health oversight activities

We may use and disclose protected health information for purposes of health oversight activities authorized by law. These activities could include audits, inspections, investigations, licensure actions, and legal proceedings. For example, we may comply with a Drug Enforcement Agency inspection of patient records.

7. Judicial and administrative proceedings

We may use and disclose protected health information disclosures in judicial and administrative proceedings in response to a court order or subpoena, discovery request or other lawful process. For example, we may comply with a court order to testify in a case at which your medical condition is at issue.

8. Law enforcement purposes

We may use and disclose protected health information for certain law enforcement purposes including to:

- Comply with legal process, for example, a search warrant.
- Comply with a legal requirement, for example, mandatory reporting of gun shot wounds.
- Respond to a request for information for identification/location purposes.
- Respond to a request for information about a crime victim.
- Report a death suspected to have resulted from criminal activity.
- Provide information regarding a crime on the premises.
- Report a crime in an emergency.
- Report criminal activity.

9. Coroners and medical examiners

We may use and disclose protected health information for purposes of providing information to a coroner or medical examiner for the purpose of identifying a deceased patient, determining a cause of death, of facilitating their performance of other duties required by law.

10. Funeral directors

We may use and disclose protected health information for purposes of providing information to funeral directors as necessary to carry out their duties.

11. Organ and tissue donation

For purposes of facilitating organ, eye, and tissue donation and transplantation, we may use protected health information and disclose protected health information to entities engaged in the procurement, banking, or transplantation of cadaver organs, eyes, or tissue.

12. Threat to public safety

We may use and disclose protected health information for purposes involving a threat to public safety, including protection of a third party from harm and identification and apprehension of a criminal. For example, in certain circumstances, we are required by law to disclose information to protect someone from imminent serious harm.

13. Specialized government functions

We may use and disclose protected health information for purposes involving specialized government functions including:

- Military and veterans activities.
- National security and intelligence.
- Protective services for the President and others.
- Medical suitability determinations for the Department of State.
- Correctional institutions and other law enforcement custodial situations.

14. Workers' Compensation and similar programs

We may use and disclose protected health information as authorized by and to the extent necessary to comply with laws relating to workers' compensation or similar programs, established by law, that provide benefits for work-related injuries or illness without regard to fault. For example, this would include submitting a claim for payment to your employer's workers' compensation carrier if we treat you for a work injury.

15. Business associates

Certain functions of the practice are performed by a business associate; such as a billing company, an accountant firm, or a law firm. We may disclose protected health information to our business associates and allow them to create and receive protected health information on our behalf. For example, we may share with our billing company information regarding your care and payment of your care so that the company can file health insurance claims and bill you or another responsible party.

16. Creation of de-identified information

We may use protected health information about you in the process of de-identifying the information. For example, we may use your protected health information in the process of removing those aspects that could identify you so that the information can be disclosed to a researcher without your authorization.

17. Incidental disclosures

We may disclose protected health information as by-product of an otherwise permitted use or disclosure. For example, other patients may overhear your name being paged in the waiting room.

18. Research

We may use and disclose protected health information in research programs.

19. Transcription

We may disclose protected health information in the process of transcribing office documentation, letters, forms, prescriptions, etc.

20. We may require additional documentation prior to release of records, e.g. short certificate.

21. Product and equipment monitoring, repair and recall

We may disclose your health information to a person or company that is required by the Food and Drug Administration to: (1) report or track product defects or problems, (2) repair, replace, or recall defective or dangerous products, or (3) monitor the performance of a product after it has been approved for use by the general public, or (4) monitoring and repair equipment such as our filing system, laboratory equipment, computer system, etc.

22. Inmates and correctional institutions

If you are an inmate or you are detained by a law enforcement officer, we may disclose your health information to the prison officers or law enforcement officers if necessary to provide you with health care, or to maintain safety, security, and good order at the place where you are confined. This includes sharing information that is necessary to protect the health and safety of other inmates or persons involved in supervising or transporting inmates or detainees. Your health information may be disclosed to maintain safety, security, and good order for our facility, staff, other patients, and guests.

(Other possible categories: facility directory and research)

C. Uses and disclosures with authorization

For all other purposes which do not fall under a category listed under section III.A and III.B we will obtain your written authorization to use or disclose your protected health information. Your authorization can be revoked at any time except to the extent that we have relied on the authorization.

III. PATIENT PRIVACY RIGHTS

A. Further restrictions on use or disclosure

You have a right to request that we further restrict use and disclosure of your protected health information to carry out treatment, payment, or healthcare operations, to someone who is involved in your care or the payment for your care, or for notification purposes. We are not required to agree to a request for a further restriction.

B. Confidential communication

You have a right to request that we communicate your protected health information to you by a certain means or at a certain location. For example, that you might request that we only contact you by mail or at work. We are not required to agree to requests for confidential communications that are unreasonable.

To make a request for confidential communications, you must submit a written request to our privacy officer. The request must tell us how or where you want to be contacted. In addition, if another individual or entity is responsible for payment, the request must explain how payment will be handled.

C. Accounting of disclosures

You have a right to obtain, upon request, an "accounting" of certain disclosures of your protected health information by us (or a business associate for us). This right is limited to disclosures within six years of the request and other limitations. Also in limited circumstances we may charge you for providing the accounting. To request an accounting, you must submit a written request to our privacy officer. The request should designate the applicable time period.

D. Inspection and copying

You have a right to inspect and obtain a copy of your protected health information that we maintain in a designated records set. This right is subject to limitations and we may impose charge for the labor and supplies involved in providing copies.

To exercise your right of access, you must submit a written request to our privacy officer. The request must: (a) describe the health information to which access is requested, (b) state how you want to access the information, such as inspection, pick-up of copy, mailing of copy, (c) specify any requested form or format, such as paper copy or an electronic means, and (d) include the mailing address, if applicable.

E. Right to amendment

You have a right to request that we amend protected health information that we maintain about you in a designated records set if the information is incorrect or incomplete. This request is subject to limitations. The request must specify each change that you want and provide a reason to support each requested change.

F. Paper copy of privacy notice

You have a right to receive, upon request, a paper copy of our Notice of Privacy Practices. To obtain a paper copy, contact our privacy officer.

IV. CHANGES TO THIS NOTICE

We reserve the right to change this notice at any time. We further reserve the right to make any change effective for all protected health information that we maintain at the time of the change – including information that we created or received prior to the effective date of the change.

We will post a copy of our current notice in the waiting room for the practice. At any time, patients may review the current notice by contacting our privacy officer.

V. COMPLAINTS

If you believe that we have violated your privacy rights, you may submit a complaint to the practice or the Secretary of Health and Human services. To file a complaint with the practice, submit the complaint in writing to our privacy officer. We will not retaliate against you for filing a complaint.

VI. LEGAL EFFECT OF THIS NOTICE

This notice is not intended to create contractual or other rights independent of those created in the federal privacy rule.